It was down in old Joe's barroom, at the corner
by the square
The drinks was served as usual, and the usual crowd was there Now on my left stood Big Joe McKennedy, his eyes were bloodshot red And as he looked at the gang around him, these were the very words he said

I went down to the St. James Infirmary, I saw my baby there Stretched out on a long white table, so young, so cold, so fair

Set a team of coal black horses Hitched to a rubber-tired hack Seven girls is goin' to the graveyard Only six of them are comin' back

Well, let her go, let her go, God bless her Wherever she may be She may search this wide world over And never find another man like me

Solo 2x Verse

Now when I die just bury me in my high top Stetson hat Place a twenty dollar gold piece on my watch chain
To let the Lord know I died standing pat

I want six crapshooters for my pallbearers A chorus girl to sing me a song Place a jazz band on my hearse wagon Just to raise hell as we roll along

Well now that you have heard my story I'll take another shot of booze
And if anyone else should ask you I've got the Infirmary blues
